

Good Food Guide 2020

If you only visit the post office once this year, make it One Penny Red

Letter writing might be something of a lost art but the deep-fried farfalle bar snack, doused with spiced salt, is worth a missive. And, yes, if you ask nicely you can probably score another serve. Contrast the crunch with slabs of pepperberry-cured kingfish, stacked on rounds of Kanzi apple and team it with a lush skin contact-y Latta Vineyards pinot gris for a super official start to your night in the old post office. An outstanding Thai-influenced salted pork belly and cuttlefish salad offers a fragrant ensemble of crackling, green mango and fennel. Smoked plum and molasses short rib arrives with more directness – big salty-sweet flavour to the fore – and adding a side of the legendary potatoes (boiled, crushed, fried, salted, spiced!) is a very good idea. Save space for tany cocnut and passionfruit panna cotta, or don't and head upstairs to the moody surrounds of Vernon's Bar for a cocktail. Wherever you are at this Summer Hill favourite, it delivers the goods.
